Dr. Stone, a Newburyport Dentist.

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 16.—Raymond Plouffe, a young Harvard farmhand, late today was convicted of murder in the second degree for causing the death of Dr. Henry N. Stone, a Newburyport dentist. When he heard the verdict he collapsed. Judge Jenney sentenced him to life imprisonment in the state prison. When the jury, which had been out for more than twenty-two hours, filed into the court room and announced "we find Raymond Plouffe guilty of murder in the second degree," the prisoner dropped in a faint. It was some minutes before he revived. When Judge Jenney pronbunced sentence, however, Plouffe showed no emotion except twitching of his features. It is understood that the jury never was in doubt of Plouffe's guilt, but spent its time debating the degree of guilt. The body of Dr. Stone was found behind a stone wall on the road between Harvard and Ayer on September 13, 1909. Death was due to blows upon the skull with some blunt instrument, although there were several bullet wounds in the head and body.

Suspicion was directed against Plopffe, who had been employed on the farm of Dr. Stone's sister in Harvard, when a pocketbook Identified as Dr. Stone's was found in the stable in which Plouffe worked and $221 in money was found on his person. He was the last person known to have been with the doctor, having left the Harvard farm in a carriage with Dr. Stone to drive him to the railroad station in Ayer. Dr. Stone, a Newburyport Dentist.

What the Regulations Declare.

Washington, Feb. 16. — President Taft's decision that "whiskey is whiskey," whether it be blended or streight. has been formulated in a set of regulations prepared by the board of food and drugs inspection of the department of agriculture. The regulations were completed late today and approved, as required by the pure food law, by Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury and Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor.

In brief, the regulations declared that all unmixed spirits distilled from grain, prepared in the customary ways, are entitled to the name "whilskey" without qualification. Blended whiskey must be labeled as such.

The term "whiskey," however, is restricted to distillates from grain, and under the regulations distillates from other substances, if labeled "whiskey," are misbranded, and the person guilty of misbranding may be prosecuted.

Sketch of New Bishop.

Hartford, Feb. 16.—The Rev. John J. Nilan. the newly appointed bishop, is a native of Newburyport, Mass., and is 54 years old. He is the son of Patrick and Mary Nilan. His father is dead, but his mother is living and makes her home with Father Nilan was educated in the schools of his native town. He is a graduate of the high school in Newburyport. From his earliest years he showed an inclination for the priesthood, and after his graduation from the high school he went to Canada, where he entered Nicolet college to make his academic studies. He studied philosophy and theology in the seminary in Troy, N. Y. In December, 1878, Father Nilan was ordained to the priesthood and at once began his pastoral work. He officiated in Framingham, Mass., and Abington, Mass. He was then transferred to Boston and afterwards he was sent to Amesbury in succession to the late Right Rev. John Brady, when he was, appointed assistant bishop of Boston.

Father Nilan is the brother of Mrs. Coffey, the wife of Jeremiah J. Coffey, foreman at Pratt & Whitney's. They live at No. 107 Putnam street. About four years and a half ago Mr. and Mrs. Coffey celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. They lived then on Harbison avenue, and the happy celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. They lived then on Harbison avenue, and the happy celebrated the twenty-five years previously. Father Nilan's pfederessor, the late Bishop Tierney, was present at the mass. While Gov. Stubbs of Kansas has been generally commended for his unusual proclamation calling upon the people of his state to feed birds in order that they might be enabled to pass through a period of sleet and snow, complaint comes from the men engaged in cleaning the trees of insect pests in New York city that the growing practice of exposing suet and other articles of food for the birds at all times during the winter is working articles of food for the birds at all times during the winter is working positive harm, because the birds have ceased their former vigilant search for insect eggs and larvae on the trees. The complaint appears to be founded in reason, for it is hunger which prompts the birds to search the trees over and over again for food, and it is just as natural for a bird as for man to become lazy when the spur to exertion is removed. It is a matter of wisdom as well as of benevolence to feed the birds in times of storm and sleet, when they cannot get at food for themselves, but it is easy to see that the kindness may easily be carried to far.—Manchester Union.

After the death of Bishop Tierney the belief was general that the Rev. factions, each claiming to be the only real exemplars of true republicanism. Over in Great Britain the recent parliamentary election revealed a condition of political instability most surprising to the too-confident liberals, who were shorn of their overwheiming power in the house of commons.

The Cubans are only beginners in practical politics. The Gomes administration in Cuba is just a little more than a year old, and has done remarkably well. Nearly, though not quite all the members of the Sixty-second house of representatives will be chosen on the 8th of next November; a few states hold their elections in advance of that date. Unfortunately, however, the house thus elected will not meet until a year from next December, unless at is unexpectedly called into special session before that time. No matter what the country may demand in the way of new legislation, this demand cannot be made effective for more than twelve made effective for more than twelve months after the voters have express-ed their will at the polls. Much as the conservatism of the framers of the conconservatism of the framers of the con-stitution may in many respects be ad-mired, it must be admitted that they wrought at this point a too elaborate safeguard against hasty and ill-con-sidered changes. Boston's $15,000,000 Bridge.

A bridge from Scollay square to East Boston 1 1-2 miles ions, to cost $15.000,000 and requiring ten years to build, is the first vision which the new mayor holds up before the eyes of the city. It is a spectacle dazzling enough for all, but it fairly hypnotizes the Noddie Islanders. We begin to see why East Boston raised up its voice and called upon Mr. Pitzgerald to return. There is no denying that such a structure would advance real estate values in East Boston enormously. About paying for such a structure out of the yearly deficit we now make good because we insist on running our nuncipal ferries so badly, we should prefer to see it reduced to mere simple and direct arithmetic.—Boston Record.
